

Dealers Declare Warfare

Price Slashing
In New Phase

Victoria's thinly-disguised price war on heavy electric appliances entered a new phase today as one retailer offered used electric washers for 98 cents, used electric ranges for $1.98, and wooden ice-boxes at 49 cents.

The "war" has been building up for several weeks, with "trade-ins" the rallying point. Merchants have offered up to $150 for "your old icebox or what have you." The large trade-in allowances without relation to the value of the goods turned in, are actually price cuts.

The merchant who today features (for Friday selling) 98-cent washers, is selling off some of his trade-ins.

THREE LEADERS

Three large Victoria retailers are the leaders in the trade-in price-cutting. One of them uses a slightly different wrinkle: he advises you not to accept a straight trade-in allowance of $120 for your old range. "Don't trade in your old range," says his ads. "Sell it to us. We will buy your range up to a minimum allowance of $120, plus any additional amount we can offer you... with a possible allowance of up to $200."

This particular offer is made on a stove listed by the manufacturer at $149.

Another merchant is frank with customers. "Look at the price tag on this refrigerator," says the salesman. "We'll knock $180 off that price—and in addition, give you a fair trade-in allowance on your old refrigerator or ice-box."

The price war is at the retail level. Merchants are passing over a portion of their own discounts in an effort to build volume. In some cases, they leave themselves with a slim margin to cover operating expenses and profit.

The present break in manufacturer's list prices was forecast when the federal government passed legislation forbidding price-fixing. Manufacturers maintain that unbridled price wars are bound to drive small retailers out of business. Only the largest stores, they believe, can afford to cut deeply into their discounts to build volume.

One major manufacturer allows trade discounts up to 40 per cent, but smaller retailers have much less margin with which to work.

In a recent national advertisement for a electric washer, the manufacturer's list price was printed as "suggested retail price," apparently leaving the actual price up to the dealer.

Montreal Theatre Fire Takes At Least 2 Lives

MONTREAL, March 5 (CP)—A raging early morning fire today destroyed the old Montreal Repertory Theatre building, took at least two lives, and sent some 300 persons from the theatre to hospital.

The fire broke out in the rear of the building, which was a three-story theatre building. Unofficial reports said about six persons were unaccounted for but police and Red Cross officials said there was no way of checking immediately.

Police said a discarded cigarette butt may have caused the blaze, discovered about 1:30 a.m. The building is at the corner of Guy and Sherbrooke Streets in downtown Montreal.

Mrs. Perkins' body was found on a stairway leading down from the M.R.T. building apartments. She was identified at the morgue from her wedding ring, although her husband, George Perkins, told police he was certain she had escaped.

The identity of Miss Mahaffey was made at the morgue.

Veteran Legislators To Retire

Two familiar members of the Legislature have announced they will retire and will not seek re-election. "It's been a lot of fun—and a lot of hard work," said George S. Pearson, 71 (Gov., Nanaimo-the Islands). Elected in 1923, he became minister of mines and labor in 1933, provincial secretary in 1941, and made a separate department of health and welfare. King has contested seven elections, and wants to retire to his store and farm in Golden.

Airlift May Beat Embargo

Alberta Dealer Would Get Over Manitoba Ban By Flying Lambs To Toronto Market

FROM C.P. DISPATCHES.

At least one Alberta dealer has figured out a way to beat Manitoba's embargo on the movement of livestock into or across its borders, which will take effect at midnight tonight. W. T. Hill, of Lethbridge, livestock feeder and dealer, said he was investigating the possibility of airlifting lambs to the Toronto market.

The ban was ordered Tuesday to protect Manitoba cattle from possible spread of foot-and-mouth disease from Saskatchewan and to prevent overloading of the Manitoba market.

J. R. Bell, deputy minister of agriculture, said the effective time was set back to permit clearance of cattle already in transit.

R.C.M.P. said they had received instructions from the provincial government to set up road blocks on six main highways entering Manitoba from Saskatchewan and would stop all trucks.

O. M. Kay, deputy attorney-general, said it was impossible to police every road but the government wanted the enforcement to go as far as humanly possible.

The embargo shuts out cattle, sheep, swine, carcasses, rawhide and wool from western Canada. Cattle and meat-in-sealed-refrigerator cars can move across the province to eastern markets.

700 OUT OF WORK

Meanwhile, a packers' union official said lay-off notices have been handed to 700 employees of four packing plants in greater Winnipeg as a result of the embargo. Reports Tuesday indicated only 250 men were affected.

The Canadian government plans to call a Federal-Provincial conference at the "earliest possible" date to deal with problems arising from the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among livestock of southern Saskatchewan.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons Tuesday the conference with the provinces will be held as soon as they can be given proof that there is no danger of the dreaded disease spreading through the movement of livestock and meat from one province to another.

"MAJOR CALAMITY"

While he spoke, the network of provincial and international restrictions on livestock and meat spread continued to cause widespread marketing disruptions.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, described the situation as a "major calamity."

He urged that not a day be lost in bringing the provinces together to study problems.

Outside the Commons, Elia Trepel, president of the Winnipeg Stock Exchange, said the situation is becoming a national calamity.

B.C. Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said he thought a conference of all Canadian agriculture ministers would be a sound plan.

"It would give us all a chance to get together on this important matter and prevent a lot of independent floundering around," he stated.

Entry Of Smoked Meats 'Too Risky'

British Columbia has decided against easing its embargo on livestock and meat to allow entry of smoked meats.

Dr. Wallace Gunn, livestock commissioner, said today an investigation has shown that shipment of smoked meat into the province would be "too risky."

Car Owners Hard Hit By Taxes

To Contribute $22,455,000

Every motor vehicle owner in B.C. will contribute about $80 to provincial government coffers in 1952-53.

A check of 1952-53 estimates of revenue from motorists shows that B.C.'s 280,500 motor vehicle owners will pay a total of $22,455,000 in motor vehicle licenses and fees, gasoline tax and motor carrier fees. The figure does not include the 3 per cent sales tax.

The government estimates next year's revenue from licenses and fees will be $8,275,000 compared to this year's estimate of $7,850,000.

Gasoline tax revenue for 1952-53 is estimated at $14,300,000 compared to $12,500,000 this year.

LIQUOR PROFITS

Motoring, however, is not the only expensive pastime. Drinking, too, can run away with the money.

The government is counting on British Columbians drinking more next year because it estimates for revenue of $18,300,000 from liquor. In 1951-52 the estimate was $17,500,000.

Biggest boost anticipated by government experts is in revenue from the 3 per cent sales tax. It is estimated revenue next year will be $31,500,000. The estimate for 1951-52, although lower than actual receipts, was $26,000,000.

RESOURCES UP

The department of lands and forests is estimating for more than a $3,000,000 boost in revenue from $10,210,000 this year to $13,490,000.

Officials are counting on large increases in revenue because of the oil and natural gas development in the north country. Leases and fees from this source are expected to bring in $1,000,000 in 1952-53. This year there was no revenue estimated from this source.

Additional timber sales also are expected. The revenue estimate next year is for $8,500,000 compared to $6,000,000 this year.

Pinay Agrees To Form New French Govt.

PARIS, March 5 (UP)—Antoine Pinay, a little known Independent, agreed today to form a new "French" government in the face of an almost empty treasury and the ever-present shadow of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The 60-year-old political veteran formally accepted the task during a brief interview at Elysee Palace with President Vincent Auriol.

The premier-designate will go before the French assembly tomorrow morning to present his program and ask support of the deputies in forming a new government to save off bankruptcy and guide France through its worst post-war crisis.

Pinay for the past two days has conferred with political leaders seeking support for a government of experts without regard to party. He accepted the mandate after former premiers Paul Reynaud, leader of Pinay's own independent group, and Rene Pleven had refused the task because the situation was "too delicate."

Veteran political observers and political party leaders give Pinay little chance of putting together a government.

CLAIM RED SUBMARINES IN DOMINICAN WATERS

CIUDAD-TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, March 5 (UP)—The government planned today to complain to the United Nations Security Council that Russia is operating its submarines in Dominican territorial waters.

The Dominican Republic lies in the Caribbean only 800 miles from the Panama Canal in an area where U.S. submarines are engaged in naval manoeuvres.

Dominican Armed Forces Minister Gen. Hector Trujillo Molina said it had been "definitely confirmed" that submarines sighted last week in Samana Bay off the northeast coast were Russian.

He said the lights of the submarines burned a special gas used only by Russian ships.

Disappointed In Tardy U.S. Aid—Winnie

LONDON, March 5 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill hinted today at disappointment in slow United States aid, and said Britain will need about four years instead of three to carry out her $4,700,000,000 rearmament program.

Spending for the first 12 months of the program, which began last April 1, already is $150,000,000 behind schedule, he told the House of Commons.

The Prime Minister, opening a debate, said the U.S. offered $13,600,000 worth of machine tools soon after the program began and delivery "is only just beginning." He expressed hope that all the tools will be in England in about 15 months.

Churchill noted that the U.S. has recently allotted to Britain for military aid $300,000,000, "none of which has yet been received." He declared "there is no question of reproaches on either side, but the fact remains as I have foreshadowed that the rearmament program is much more likely to be carried out in four years than in three."

Churchill said that "if war should come it will be with violent speed and suddenness, and here at home with almost all our regular armies overseas we must rely to an unusual extent on the home guard."

As soon as Britain has the modern equipment, he added, "we should have available for service abroad and at home a total of 22 divisions."

Churchill said these would be combat divisions and would have "a much more complex character than anything known in the late war and a considerable proportion would be armored."

The debate will be ended tonight with a vote on a Labor motion of non-confidence in the ability of the government to carry out the rearmament plans.

Try To Use U.N. Hostages As 'Club' In Truce Talks

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea, March 5 (AP)—The Communists admitted today they hold unreported prisoners and tried to use them as a club in Korean truce negotiations.

The Reds said they will supply the names of these prisoners "in due time"—but only after the Allies furnish data the Communists have been demanding.

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby reported sharply that the United Nations command will furnish additional prisoner data on an exchange basis or not at all.

The Red admission followed a demand by Libby that the Communists account for 173 additional prisoners. Most of these are Americans. Some are British and Canadian.

This makes a total of 1,621 U.N. soldiers and 50,000 Republic of

Ready To Exchange Information

He was referring to 44,000 Koreans originally listed by the Allies as prisoners but since reclassified as South Korean civilians or R.O.K. troops. Their names were not on the original list of 132,000 the Allies handed the Reds.

Libby said the Allies were ready to exchange complete information on prisoners, including troops captured between the time the original lists were compiled and Feb. 28.

His demand for a report on 173 men was based on names taken from Red broadcasts, letters to families, Communist periodicals and "other sources," presumably secret agents.

The request for names of 50,000 R.O.K. troops, whom the Reds say "do not exist," was based on Communist radio boasts of the number of prisoners they had captured. The Allies insist the Reds impressed most of them into the North Korean army.

Lee repeated today: "We released at the front the majority of prisoners of war whom we captured."

Staff officers working on truce supervision met for only 14 minutes. Each side said it had nothing new to offer and there was no point in just talking. Their current stumbling block is Red insistence that Russia help supervise the truce and Allied refusal to consider the Soviet Union.

Both truce groups meet again at 9 p.m. E.S.T. Wednesday.

Four Missing Canadians On List Of Prisoners

PANMUNJOM, Korea, March 5 (CP)—The United Nations command today handed the Reds a list of 173 Allied prisoners it said were unreported prisoners of the Communists, and asked for an accounting.

The list apparently contained the names of the only four Canadians listed in Ottawa casualty lists as missing.

The Canadians were listed today as Cpl. J. R. Toole, B801850; Pte. S. G. Allain, J79811; Pte. S. D. Baker, A155660, and Pte. C. Bellefeuille, J4850907. No home towns were given.

Most of the names on the list were those of United States servicemen. Two others were Britons and one was from the Royal Australian Air Force. All the men have been mentioned in Red propaganda broadcasts, publications and other sources.

While there are some differences in initials and official numbers, the Canadian apparently are:

Pte. Joseph Terence Allain, SG9811, of Rexton, Kent County, N.B.

Cpl. John Richard Toole, B801850, of Hamilton, Ont.

Pte. Arthur Baker, SD155660, of Montreal.

Pte. Joseph Armand Bellefeuille, C850907, of Hull, Que.

The Army in Ottawa said it had earlier information that Allain was taken prisoner and that his next-of-kin had been informed although the casualty list entry

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Walter Van Tilburg Clark closes his New Republic book review of Eric Maria Remarque's new novel, "Spark of Life," with an impressive tribute. The work, he says, "is a penetrating, heartening, consistently interesting dramatization of the power of the human spirit to survive in a world beset by subhuman dogmatism."

"That," says Mr. Clark, "is a great deal, a very much needed great deal."

Since the story is that of political prisoners in Nazi Germany, it is surprising that the spark should retain life. Yet the reviewer implies more than that. He suggests that the human spirit is a pretty durable thing. Such reminders are welcome in an age in which the story of desolation, brutality and depression is so frequently told.

We begin to forget how much the human spirit can withstand and how quickly it can recover.

"My heart leaps up," says the poet, "when I behold a rainbow in the sky."

Some small, inconsequential incident can provide the same lift. A baby on a bus looks with round-eyed surprise at its fellow passengers, smiles, and the human spirit begins to soar again, borne out of those small cares that collect in the working day.

A robin sings its rain song in the grey of a still afternoon and the melody rides high and clear in untarnished enjoyment. In the garden the first blue violets hang on slender stems above the rich green of new leaves. Their scent rises faintly in the cold air.

The red currant breaks out its deep rose hammers, not fully in bloom yet, but clouding the warm brown stems of the shrub and promising a wealth of tiny blossoms.

The Spirit Bargeons

A sun-bright morning in March puts new spring in a man's step, throws his shoulders back and lifts his eyes to the sky. The human spirit not only survives the subhuman dogmatism of a troubled world, it pushes them back into their proper place and the spirit-burgeons.

Given but the shortest time, the human spirit can nourish itself simply and completely on the natural world around it. From the soil it draws strength. In the quiet, contemplative calm of a lengthening evening it takes on growth from the restrained glory of a sunset spreading pastels on the Olympic and lending deepening blues to the Sooke Hills.

And the human spirit finds warmth and comfort, room to expand, in the simply-told stories of man's humanity. The spark of life shines brighter for the telling of such things as the contents of a letter received by the John Howard Society.

Renewal of Faith

It is the unaffected document of a contented family man, recalling his mistakes of youth and the help a John Howard worker had given him. It is his expression of the wish to make some repayment for the time and money spent on him. And in its way it is the inspiration for a renewal of faith.

The human spirit is nourished and grows strong on the unfettered generosity of a community that supports its charities, that gives to the Red Cross without thought of reward, but simply to help the distressed.

It is well that Remarque should speak of his survival under the crushing drabness and brutishness of a prison camp. It is well that he should show the spark of life unquenched.

By doing so, he draws the attention of all who are fortunate to the world which offers so much encouragement to the human spirit, reminding us that it is the one sustaining influence that makes life worth the living.

Czechs Express Willingness To Discuss Case Of W. Oatis

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—A diplomatic source said today the Czechoslovak government has expressed a willingness to conduct official talks about the case of William N. Oatis, imprisoned United States correspondent.

This source said the willingness to talk represents a step forward, since at one time the Czechs refused to listen to any mention of the subject.

Oatis was convicted on charges of espionage, along with two other Associated Press employees who are Czechoslovak citizens. Oatis was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment with a recommendation that he be released after five years and expelled from the country. The U.S. State Department has made numerous protests to Czechoslovakia on the case.

Quake Victims Get Quick Aid

TOKYO, March 5 (AP)—United States occupation forces and the Japanese government today rushed relief supplies to victims of an earthquake and tidal waves in snowswept northern Japan.

Planes, trains and boats carried blankets, medicine and food to stricken areas of sparsely-settled eastern Hokkaido Island and the more populous sections of northern Honshu Island.

Thousands of homeless suffered from bitter cold and driving snowstorm which followed Tuesday's earthquake.

The official U.S. army estimate stood at 31 Japanese dead and 170 injured. Japanese police announced they have recovered 20 bodies.

Kyodo News Agency reported the quake left a fishing village submerged and pushed up a new 40-foot hill. Both were on Hokkaido, northernmost island of Japan.

A Kyodo reporter who flew over Kiritappu reported most of the 1,691 villagers were marooned atop their submerged homes. He said a rescue boat was on its way to the coastal town.

The news agency said the new hill appeared near the village of Niihappu. Inhabitants said a lava-like substance flowed from the hill and then hardened. Two years ago a quake thrust up a similar hill in the same area.

Japanese government agencies reported incomplete surveys showed the quake and 10-foot-high tidal waves caused this damage: Railway tracks were twisted and snarled in places, an uncounted number of fishing boats were sunk, seven coal miners were killed, tidal waves washed away 277 houses in Hamanaka Village on Hokkaido, leaving 1,600 persons homeless.

Technical School Holds Open House

Parents, friends and the general public have been invited to an "open night" at the F. T. Fairley Technical Unit Friday night from 7 to 9:30 in connection with Education Week.

Students of Victoria High School who are taking courses at the technical unit on the school grounds will be seen at their work.

Carpentry, electrical, sheet metal and machine shops will be open. Work in the automotive repair trade, foundry practice and in electrical work will be observed.

In the brightly-colored costumes and gay scenery Oak Bay's scholars add their youthful enthusiasm and talent. The result is promising.

The entertainment does not stop there, as a cast of nine, under the direction of Miss K. B. Youdall, will present a humorous play, "Sitting Bill." It involves the trials of a college student undertaking the art of baby sitting.

Larry Johns, the baby sitter, is supported by Ann Whittington, Peter Cloghesy, John Sparks, Margie Gilbert, Marget Stephenson, Ed Price, Jerry Rovers and Beryl Harvey.

These two productions are the main events of the evening, with two American couple dances, two square dances and two darky numbers added.

Oil Line Assessment $38,500-A-Mile

The enormous length of the Edmonton-Burnaby oil pipe line will pay municipal and provincial taxes to B.C. on a maximum assessment rate of $38,500 a mile.

First reading was given in the Legislature Tuesday to a bill requiring the Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co. to pay these levies.

Construction starts in June. The bill provides a schedule for taxation of pipe lines for transportation of water, petroleum, gas or petroleum products.

In each municipality the pipe line touches, the company would pay the prevailing rate of taxation. Maximum assessment, if the line operates to full capacity of 200,000 barrels a day, would be $38,500 a mile.

The provincial government would collect the tax in unorganized territory.

Another bill introduced in the Legislature Tuesday would amend the B.C. Corporation Income Tax Act to bring it into line with the new Dominion-provincial agreement.

The government introduced a Loan Act to give itself the power to raise $6,050,000. This is part of the government's capital expenditures program for next year.

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

INTERIM—In Ottawa Fisheries Minister Mayhew said Tuesday an interim agreement has been reached with Norway for the opening of the 1952 sealing season. The season opened today in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and will open on March 10 along the north shore of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Replying to W. J. Browne (P.C. St. John's West), Mayhew said his department hopes to have discussions later with Norway and other interested countries on controversial matters pertaining to the sealing industry.

CANCER—A new British drug is helping some people with one form of chronic leukemia, the blood cancer.

It came from a 20-year search into the cause of cancer, and that hunt promises far better cancer-killers to come.

The drug and research were described today to the second national cancer conference by Dr. Alexander Haddow, director of the Chester Beatty Research Institute, Royal Cancer Hospital, in London.

The drug is GT-41, a code name in honor of George Timmis, the chemist who created it. It is a butane chemical, in a new family of anti-leukemia drugs.

CHEAPER—Some cheaper foods, home furnishings and clothing led the Canadian cost-of-living index into lower ground for the second time in three months during January.

The seven-tenths of a point decline, biggest such monthly drop in nine years, brought the Dominion Bureau of Statistics' index to 190.8 on Feb. 1 from its peak of 191.5 on Jan. 2. The 1935-39 prices equal 100 on the index.

The decline resulted from lower prices for eggs, beef, pork, lard, shortening, men's woolen apparel, women's nylon hosiery, furniture, wool blankets and soap.

QUICKIE—Western diplomats today attended the opening of Russia's parliament, the Supreme Soviet, in Moscow.

They sat in the diplomatic box of the Grand Kremlin palace, overlooking the front benches where government ministers and members of the Politburo sat.

The sitting of the "council" of the union lasted only 15 minutes, unanimously adopting a two-point agenda: the 1952 state budget, which will be presented to a joint session of both houses Thursday, and the ratification of

Income Tax Figuring To Be Tougher

By RON BAIRD

Income tax calculations this year will require a keener sense of mathematics.

But don't worry too much—if you can divide by ten and then add the result to the total, you're all set.

That's what the income tax boys say, anyway.

Here's what makes the country's annual headache slightly more painful for 1952—it's the added 10 per cent government defense tax slapped onto incomes last July 1.

This is the way to figure it out after sharpening up your pencil and turning on the coffee pot:

Grasp the T1 individual tax return form firmly and turn to page four and the tax table.

Say, for example, you earn $2,400 a year and have received no other money from outside sources as outlined in the tax form.

The tax table calculates that you owe the government $397—that figure goes down on page three of the form alongside the notation "tax on taxable income." To the $397, add 10 per cent ($39.70)—which represents the defense tax—and you arrive at the total, $436.70.

In short, divide your total income tax by 10, then add the remainder, and the amount you arrive at is exactly what the federal government wants to see coming its way in the mail not later than midnight April 30.

N.A.T.O. Seen Best Peace Bet

OTTAWA, March 5 (BUP)—External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said today the North Atlantic Treaty had supplanted the United Nations as the main hope for peace because the U.N. did not give the world the security it had the right to expect.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization now is the "principal instrument for the defense of the free world," Pearson said in a forward to his department's 1951 report.

Pearson said that "countries in the N.A.T.O. alliance, 'grew in strength and solidarity' in 1951 and added that this resulted in an improvement in the international situation.

On the other hand, he said, the U.N. General Assembly, on which much of the world once pinned its hopes for lasting peace, had failed to give the people of the world the security that they thought it would provide.

"The General Assembly exists primarily to further the cause of peace and security, to promote the general welfare and to resolve international problems and differences," he said.

Mayor's Plan Given Hoist By Council

Written complaints and requests to city council's public works committee will be acted upon "in the usual way first."

If the committee requires further information, it may invite those concerned to appear in person, aldermen ruled Tuesday, during a discussion on a suggestion from Mayor Claude L. Harrison.

The mayor proposed to all committees that persons with written requests, complaints or suggestions due to go before a committee meeting, be notified so that they might be present for discussion.

Public works agreed in principle but maintained each case would have to be acted upon in the usual way first.

The committee received legal advice to the effect that the committee meeting is "privileged" to enable the committee to talk freely and is not legally required to receive anyone.

FACETS—In New York Cornelia Otis Skinner demonstrated to her premiere Broadway audience at the Booth Theatre Tuesday night that she is truly a one-woman theatre.

In her single-handed performance of "Paris '90" she revealed illuminating facets of comedy, tragedy, burlesque, naughtiness and genius as she enacted stories imagined from the paintings of the noted French artist, Henri Toulouse-Lautrec.

Miss Skinner has done something like this type of one-woman show in previous seasons, as in "The Wives of Henry VIII," "The Loves of Charles II" and "The Empress Eugenie."

PRECAUTION—The Philippines government announced today that all ships arriving from Korea, China or Hong Kong will be disinfected as a precaution against bubonic plague.

The order was inspired by Communist broadcasts that bubonic plague is sweeping North Korea. The Reds charge the United Nations command started it with germ warfare. The Allies say the charge is preposterous.

Trees Big Headache For Engineer

City Engineer Cyril Jones has got to the point where he can take his trees or leave them alone.

From here on in, he thinks it would be just as well for City Council to approve taking them out or leaving them in. In view of the future attendant upon tree removals, he made suggestion to City Council's public works committee, Tuesday.

And then out of the depths of civic experience, which could make a man bitter, Jones murmured with a smile:

"Recommendations are made by fools like me.

But only God can make a tree."

The committee advised Mrs. E. M. Foxgord, 1917 Shakespeare Street, the city was under no obligation to remove a tree, which she said was damaging the foundation of her home. She is free to have the objectionable branches and roots taken out, the committee said.

Approval of a revised list of 32 employees who will be allowed parking meter exemptions was given. Last year 64 exemption cards were permitted.

D. A. Rose, federal inspector of weights and measures, was refused a card, as was Hospital Insurance Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller, who asked a free space on Gordon Street for persons paying premiums. Doctors will select six of their number who will receive exemption cards. They had asked for 32.

A tour of city streets will be undertaken by public works committee Saturday to determine the best way of spending $86,779, balance of the $1,200,000 from the 1948 streets loan by-law.

Committee instructed the engineer to select a test street, to see if contractors could do the annual line painting on downtown streets cheaper than public works department.

A $17 public works bill for garbage disposal was charged to the much publicized "mayor's fund."

The engineer asked for direction. He told the committee the mayor had ordered a pile of rubbish picked up by the city from the home of a widow when he learned the woman could not afford to have it done herself. The fire department had ordered the rubbish removed.

"The mayor's fund is to assist indigent people," said Ald. Percy Scurrah, chairman.

Discrimination Charge By Guild

TORONTO, March 5 (CP).—An Ontario labor department conciliation officer has recommended appointment of a commission to investigate a charge of discrimination brought by the Ottawa Newspaper Guild against the Ottawa Journal Publishing Company, Labor Minister Daley announced Tuesday.

Truck Ruins Prisoners' Efforts

WALLA WALLA, Wash., March 5 (AP).—A state penitentiary milk truck ended a tunnel escape attempt of an undetermined number of inmates just 30 feet short of freedom Tuesday night—two weeks after prisoners were honored at a dinner given by the warden because they presumably had dug no tunnels the last 12 months.

The men responsible are believed to have worked 18 months on the project.

The 100-foot-long tunnel was discovered by prison officers when the truck, delivering milk to the kitchen, caved in a spot while traveling along the road-way just inside the north wall. The passageway was about 18 inches under the surface at that point.

Warden John Cranor said there was no one in the tunnel at the time, but evidence of fresh digging was found.

"It was clearly a case of directing the tunnel toward the surface too soon," the warden said.

The warden said he was not sure which inmates or how many were involved.

"No one will take my wager," he said, "but I'll bet that while some of the men were eating that banquet the other night, others were digging below."

At Least Five Russian Jets Fall To Yanks

SEOUL, Korea, March 5 (AP).—United States warplanes surprised a flight of Communist Mig-15 jets today and shot down at least five near the Yalu River. There was no announcement of any U.S. losses.

Another Mig was listed as probably destroyed.

The wild 30-minute morning battle was touched off when 28 F-86 Sabre jets pounced on a flight of 70 Mig-15s as the Reds came out of their Manchurian sanctuary.

It was the biggest bag of Red jets since Jan. 25, when Sabre pilots destroyed 10.

Another Mig crashed behind the Manchurian border without a shot being fired at it. Two Allied pilots said the plane was stunting when it suddenly went into a tight spin and roared to the ground.

Fighting on the battlefield continued light but the Reds stepped up their fire in some sections Tuesday.

Queen Favors June Birthday

LONDON, March 5 (Reuters).—The Queen decided today to celebrate her "official" birthday this year on June 5—the day chosen by her father for his official birthday.

Her real birthday is April 21.

Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1952 5

She will be 26 then. But in naming June 5 as the day for celebrations she followed a tradition established by King Edward VII, who decreed that British sovereigns should have "official" birthdays in June to fit in with holiday schedules throughout the Commonwealth.

WITH THE FORCES

West Germans Welcome Canada Defense Force

By ROY THORSEN

Canadian soldiers were surprised at the welcome they received from German families on arrival in the war-torn country to take over a role in the vast European defense system.

Writes Capt. Royce Marshall, Victoria: "The people here have received the Canadians very well. At Christmas 200 families from the Hanover area requested men of this battalion (the Highland battalion) to spend the holidays with them.

"It was most encouraging. We thought we would not be wanted or appreciated here. From all reports, the men had a wonderful time," said the officer.

Capt. W. J. Jussup, from Saint John, N.B., who was stationed here for some time as artillery instructor, has gained top honors at the anti-aircraft branch of the artillery school at Fort Bliss, U.S.A.

He is the second of thousands of students who have passed through the school to graduate with the perfect grade of 100.

The Jussup family carries the tradition of over 100 years' service in the army. His father, Maj. W. J. Jussup, of Jolliore, N.S., has seen service with both the Imperial and Canadian armies.

WRENS RECRUIT

H.M.C.S. Malahat officers report new women applicants are coming forward to fill the places of Wrens going on continuous naval duty. Most recent to leave the division for courses at Cornwallis were Wren Patricia Allen, administrative writer, and Wren Valerie Griffiths, communications.

Chief P.O. W. C. Burch, recently back from a recruiting course at Ottawa, is clarifying many problems on recruiting here.

Two women who took part for the local reserve naval division in the shoot of all 21 divisions in Canada were Wren E. A. Patterson and Wren D. I. Smith did well according to range officer C.E.O. H. E. Wood. C.P.O. Burch had top score of 97. P.O. Lovelock was next with 96.

SHOOT INTERRUPTED
Guns firing their heavy 3.7 A.A. guns at Albert Head last week were forced to stop shooting when a ship going from quarantine to the Victoria harbor (or vice-versa) passed dangerously close—and this in spite of warnings to mariners to keep ships out of danger from shell fragments.

One of Canada's top military bands—the R.C.A.F. Band from Edmonton—will be here for a public performance at the Odeon Theatre next Sunday. The 33-man band, conducted by veteran Bandmaster F.O. L. D. Corcoran, will commence a program at the theatre starting at 2.45. Admission will be free. There will be a collection for the Air Cadets. The band will play at the Victoria Veterans' Hospital (D.V.A.) after the Sunday performance.

Diesel Engines Tampered With

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP)—Production Minister Howe said Tuesday it has been established that "abrasive material was placed in" 15 Diesel engines sent to Canada and that it was done before they left England. Earlier reports said the material was sand and that the engines were destined for use in Canadian radar stations.

Conciliation Officer Asked By Civic Group

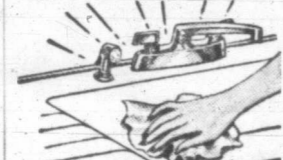

Aid of a conciliation officer is being sought by the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association which is now deadlocked in negotiations with Oak Bay council. Association members have rejected a $20-a-month wage increase offered by council negotiators. They are asking for a $26 boost.

It will perform at all the large Island centres, collections going to the boys of the squadron in those towns. Victoria members of the band are L.A.C. Raymond Haggart and Sgt. William Ratcliffe.

Rhee Leadership In Doubt As Civil Political War Held Raging In Korea

By WILLIAM JORDEN

PUSAN, Korea, March 5 (AP)—A political civil war is raging in this embattled Korean republic despite the pressure of a mighty Communist army massed near its northern frontier.

With a presidential election only three months away, antagonism between President Syngman Rhee and the one-house national assembly has flared into a running fight.

Political observers here agree almost unanimously that Rhee has little chance for re-election—even if he seeks another four-year term.

Rhee, although convinced the Korean people will insist that he run, told the Associated Press he made up his mind "long ago" not to seek another term.

But political intimates of the 76-year-old "father of the Korean Republic" say Rhee could be induced to run if he thought he would be elected easily. Under the Korean constitution, the president is elected by the national assembly.

In January, Rhee sponsored a proposed amendment for direct election of the president and for a two-house national assembly. Critics said Rhee introduced the measure as a move toward his re-election.

SINGAPORE, March 6 (Reuters)—Malaya and Singapore will register all men 18 to 53 for possible national service in case of war, it was announced Tuesday.

After only two days of debate, the assembly turned down the amendment by a 143-19 vote.

Rhee suggested that the voters should recall the legislators.

Here's the New Toothpaste We Publicized in Reader's Digest FLUORIDE + CHLOROPHYLL

and a Magic TOOTH WHITENER

FLURADENE MUST ... Stop Bad Breath! Aid the Gums! Whiten even Dingy Teeth! Clean and Freshen the Mouth! OR YOUR MONEY BACK!

Your Teeth Can Look Shades Whiter in Just Three Days

Even if you have naturally dingy teeth, at last here is a toothpaste that will make your teeth whiter than nature intended. Our FLURADENE story in the January issue of Reader's Digest explains what happened when FLURADENE toothpaste was first tested. FLURADENE actually made naturally dingy teeth look shades whiter. How does FLURADENE accomplish this? Well, it contains a combination of ingredients that filters out the dark shades and gives your teeth the appearance of being much whiter than they actually are. Because of this, anyone can keep their teeth attractively white with FLURADENE.

FLURADENE does not contain soap, harsh abrasives and mouth-burning flavors found in ordinary toothpaste.

FLURADENE is light green in color because it contains chlorophyll, the miracle essence that Stops Bad Breath, and leaves you a clean, fresh mouth. It's been proved Fluoride in drinking water reduces tooth decay. Dental authorities are not yet satisfied as to the effectiveness of a Fluorinated dentifrice. Use FLURADENE regularly immediately after meals and let your own dentist be the judge. Run your tongue over your teeth right now! Feel that film plaque? Say goodbye to it with FLURADENE. Here is a toothpaste that is excitingly different. FLURADENE tastes sweet, leaves your mouth clean and fresh. Because it is a pharmaceutical preparation, not a soap product, FLURADENE is on sale in drug stores only!

Warranty

FLURADENE MUST DO WHAT WE SAY OR WE REFUND YOUR MONEY

Use up to half the tube. If your teeth do not look whiter than ever before, if your breath is not sweeter, your gums less irritated and the general appearance of your mouth healthier and better looking, send the remainder of the tube to Adam, Ltd., 225 Mutual Street, Toronto 2, and we will refund your money.

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT FLURADENE

"I've heard so much about chlorophyll for breath that FLURADENE toothpaste is a natural for me."

"I dislike toothpaste that tastes of soap — that's why I like FLURADENE. My teeth have never been whiter."

"FLURADENE not only makes my teeth whiter but the magic green chlorophyll in it stops bad breath."

"At last I've found a toothpaste that has no soap, no grit and does not burn my lips and mouth. What a toothpaste FLURADENE is!"

"My teeth are naturally dingy and in just two days FLURADENE made them look milk white."

"A whitening toothpaste with chlorophyll. Why did you people wait so long to bring out FLURADENE?"

"Stops bad breath, aids gums, makes teeth whiter and yet FLURADENE costs no more than old-fashioned toothpaste."

"My gums were sore nearly all the time. Massaging with FLURADENE relieved the soreness in two days and my teeth have never looked so white."

"FLURADENE tastes wonderful and leaves me a clean, fresh mouth."

CONSTANT VIGILANCE— BUT NO VIGILANTES

TAMPA, Fla., March 5 (AP).—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said today that baseball will continue to exercise constant vigilance to prevent gamblers from approaching players but he denied that a new "police" system has been instituted.

The statement followed a story from Los Angeles quoting Bill Summers, American League umpire, as telling St. Louis Browns that such a system, designed to keep players from the fans before games to safeguard the athletes from gamblers, will be in effect this year.

"There really is nothing new about it," Frick said. "I have talked to American League president Will Harridge and National League president Warren Giles concerning precautionary measures, and I asked them to caution the players about talking to strangers, but that is all."

8 Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1952

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Alex MacDonald, effervescent manager of the Foul Bay Lacrosse Club and self-appointed goodwill ambassador of the Shamrocks, of which he is a vice-president, is looking for the Mann Cup this year. He had the same outlook last year but the screen clouded over in September.

Not that the rest of the Shamrocks aren't of a similar outlook with Jackie Northup under lock and key, Jackie being the league's most valuable player of last season.

But Alex has the idea that this will definitely be the year although he disagrees with the club training program.

"I figure we should have won the title last year," opined Alex, "but we hit our peak too soon. We were at our best in mid-season and then looked our worst in the playoffs."

Few will disagree with Alex on this point except perhaps Vancouver Combines.

Exhibition games don't mean much so Peterborough's appearance here has little to do with the subject, but Alex is still of the opinion that the Shamrocks at their best could have taken the Petes handily had Combines provided the Rocks with the opportunity.

Alex didn't say so in as many words, but he believes the stiff pre-season grind employed by the Rocks has its merits in getting the club to the peak in physical fitness, but it falls short of its ultimate aim. He would rather see the club come along slowly at first, if necessary, and then reach the climax at playoff time.

Nanaimo's Fan Potential High

Perhaps Combines' performance last year had something to do with Alex reaching his opinion and, of that series, Alex says "Gogie Stewart was the guy that beat us. He could lift a team to great heights. When he was finished in the Mann Cup series so were the Combines."

And Alex, whose primary interest is to see the boxa sport flourish, doesn't believe in the Shamrocks becoming too strong for the rest of the league—referring to the Fred Fulla situation. The Nanaimo goalkeeper having been mentioned prominently as willing to play for the Irish, Alex says: "Frankly, I wouldn't want to see Fulla come to Victoria. It would hurt the Nanaimo team. And Nanaimo with a good team could be a good drawing card at home. Fulla's loss would definitely hurt the club, both in strength and at the box office."

Alex also revealed that New Westminster Commandos won't be any pushover as it is rumored that Reo Jerome is coming back into the fold. One of the strongest players, physically, in the game, Jerome could turn the Commandos, even without Northup, into a definite contender.

Then there's the report, apparently well founded, that Vancouver Combines have secured the backing of a large and popular beverage firm. Something was said about a blank cheque being thrown in with the deal.

Alex smiled as he spoke—sort of a knowing smile and quietly admitted he wasn't making any plans for his holidays, not yet, anyway.

Mann Cup Finals Are In The East

"I made a bet at New Years that we would win the Mann Cup this year," he said, noting also that he was in full possession of his clairvoyant qualities at the time of the wager, "and I see no reason to change my mind now."

"Oh yeah. The Shamrocks start training on March 17," he said as he departed.

Doug Fletcher didn't remain an eggsecutive for long... guess he figured it would build into the forthcoming lacrosse season. We still figure Tommy Dore would be the answer to United's hopes for a Dominion football title, but with New Westminster Royals going the way they are, it looks like the Shamrocks may be without big Tom's services for a while. University of British Columbia ruggerers are getting some valuable experience in California before taking on the Crimson Tide in the McKechnie Cup final. And Victorians Frank Gower and Bill Mullholland are sparking the birds down south. Reports are that the locals will have to look to their laurels after Saturday's show at Brockton Oval.

Latest from Cecil Garriot is that the Tyres will commence training March 27... pitchers and catchers March 24. One thing is certain, Garriot will have plenty of bodies (30) from which to choose. The California State League has a ruling this year that only two veterans will be allowed on each club, so there should be an abundance of such material available. Annual stockholders' meeting will likely be held slightly better than two weeks' time.

An interested spectator at Tuesday's hockey game was Jim Shirley, who once tilled for the Cougars, but is now the Quakers' second-string custodian. Shirley was ticketed for Cincinnati but missed the chance because of the American Hockey League deadline for new players. Jim gave credit to the Cougars for a great game against his present mates.

WARREN'S ANSWER TO REBEL MOWAT

City Playground Program Extensive

By DENNY BOYD

The letter to this department was from Victoria's number one booster, Rebel Mowat. For once Rebel had a beef rather than a boast.

He claimed that the city parks board was not living up to its obligation to the children of the city.

Mowat charged that, concerning playgrounds, there was no promotion by the city, and as a result there was a sharp decline in amateur sports. He said that there should be more organized games and playground facilities "for the kids."

The letter was published on these pages because Mowat desired his complaint aired. Perhaps that was why, first thing Monday morning Cliff Bate, city parks foreman, paid this department a visit. He, too, had a complaint. He felt that his organization was being unjustly criticized and offered to show proof.

And proof positive can be gained by making a tour of playgrounds, play lots and prospective sites for, under the ambitious program of parks administrator Herb Warren and his entourage, the aim is to improve and increase all recreational facilities in the city.

A good example is Burnside Park. This is one of the playgrounds which employs a qualified supervisor during the summer months. The park is equipped with swings, teeter-totters, a slide, sand boxes, a playground building and basketball hoops.

At present an adjoining field has been bulldozed and is being excavated for a junior softball diamond. This diamond, an extra feature, was financed through surplus funds. It will serve the entire community.

Quadra Heights is a district which Bate claims has more children than any other district in town. This area has built up tremendously in the past couple of years, necessitating a playground that would not have been needed before the district was taken over by a veterans' settlement.

The park is still in the rough stages as work on development began only last fall. Plans include the construction of a building, a battery of swings and sand boxes.

At playgrounds and play lots in Hillside, Oak Bay, Sidiacoma, West, James Bay and Oaklands districts it's the same story. Either new lots are being planned, being constructed or else additional improvements are being made to existing facilities. The winter months are considered the off-season for playgrounds and most of the work consists of pruning, planting, grading and carpentry.

Bate has a crew of 10 men working on year-round maintenance.

Currently, the biggest dream in Bate's life is the proposed playground for the Topaz Ave. area. If plans go through this park could take the place of the grossly over-used Central Park.

"There has been a tendency in the last 20 years to build up the parks on the outskirts of the city," says Bate.

Leger Eyeing Records

While Ed Dorohoy battles gruffly for the Pacific Hockey League championship, there is also another scoring battle going on within the club, one that is not drawing much attention.

Roger Leger is only 12 points away from a scoring record for defensemen, set by Babe Pratt two years ago while with New Westminster. Leger also needs eight assists and four goals to tie the two other records for defensemen.

The Cougar coach picked up two assists Tuesday night to bring his season's scoring total to 54 points—14 goals and 40 assists.

Mount View In Decisive Win Over Dockers

In the only inter-high school senior boys' basketball game Tuesday Mount View nipped Esquimalt 44-43 at Esquimalt.

Playing controlled basketball all the way Mount View deserved the win. Paced by Al Snowsall, Mount View took the lead in the first frame and never once relented. The first quarter ended with Mount View in front 12-9.

Excellent shooting kept the visiting quintet ahead as the half-time score stood at 21-14. At the end of the third frame it was 28-18.

In the fourth quarter there was nothing coach Bill Reid of Esquimalt could do to stop the invaders.

Snowsall led the visitors with 19 points. High men for Esquimalt were Hunter and Jones with 5.

Soccer School Exams Tonight

Final examinations in the Dominion Football Association-sponsored soccer school will be held tonight at the civil defense rooms in the Market Building at 7:30.

Soccer students will be tested on the laws of the game and fundamentals taught them by the three instructors, George Kulai, Ed Ball and Hank Cassido.

Playoff Goal Within Sight

Two great stars teaming together with Frampton the trigger man decided this one. The Cougar third straight victory at home—and left the club still within sighting distance of the sixth and final league playoff position.

But lest it be considered this was a three-star show, forget it, for the Cougars outplayed the Quakers by a wide margin and outshot Doug Bentley and his mates, 34-20.

Only on occasions did the Cougars appear to be in trouble and Bentley was the man who took advantage of two such lapses to score two goals. He was all they said he was, the "Delisle Dandy," and was definitely the best Quaker on the team.

Special note should probably be paid to Cougars' Jerry Cotnoir who played the game suffering from an attack of influenza. Jerry was a sick boy, but in his true sportsmanship, remarked when the game was over: "Who me? I feel fine. I always feel good when we win."

And Leger gave an insight into what is in the minds of his hirelings when he said: "Don't you think it means something to me to finish in the playoffs?"

The playoff picture as it now stands finds the Cougars still in the cellar with a game in hand over Vancouver and all square with Calgary Stampede.

The point portrait looks like this: The Cougars are four points behind the Canucks with two games remaining with the Vancouver sextette and two points behind the Stamps with whom their schedule is completed.

U.S. Opposes War With China

Collapse Of Truce Talks Would Not Change Policy State Department Leader Discloses

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Truman administration has decided against any move to carry the Korean war to China even if the truce talks collapse.

Leica Camera Firm Building Ontario Plant

MIDLAND, Ont., March 5 (CP)—A famous camera and precision instrument firm from Germany is going to build its North American factory here.

Ernst Leitz (Canada) Limited announced plans today to put up a building in this Georgian Bay town on a 10-acre industrial site purchased about three months ago.

The Leitz Company, best known to the public for its pioneer development of the Leica miniature camera, is better known to industry for its range of precision instruments, which include microscopes, binoculars and instruments for testing the hardness of metals. The parent factory at Wetzlar in Western Germany employs more than 5,000 persons.

The initial plant, which will specialize in the assembly of a broad range of precision products in the early stages, will have 15,000 square feet of floor space and two floors will represent an investment of approximately $200,000.

While stock in the 100-year-old Ernst Leitz Incorporated has long been held by the Leitz family, some capital for the Canadian venture will be put up by Walter A. Carveth of Toronto, whose firm now markets the Leitz products.

Fifty men and women will be employed in the new plant during early stages of operations and the number ultimately employed may exceed 1,000. Fifteen key workers from Wetzlar are expected to arrive at Montreal about the end of May.

Walter Kluck, who will manage the midland operations under the supervision of Gunther Leitz, is scheduled to reach here about April 1.

Construction of the first factory unit is expected to start this month.

Crash Kills 119

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 5 (Reuters)—The death toll in Tuesday's rail disaster here—the worst in Brazil's history—was set today at 119, with nearly 300 persons injured, many seriously.

An all-metal electric train, so crowded passengers were hanging out of the doors, sideswiped a derailed section of another train on a bridge near the Rio suburb of Anchieta.

The electric train, taking workers into the city, crashed as it crossed a bridge over the Pavuna River.

Officials said that is the present basic policy but how it is applied if and when a collapse occurs will undoubtedly depend on what the Communists do and what the American people think about it.

In the highest levels of the defense and state departments it is recognized, officials privately concede, that popular indignation could force the United States in some circumstances to take action which would either contradict or diverge from its present policy.

A clear indication of the administration's attitude came Sunday night in a speech sent by John M. Allison, assistant state secretary, to the Philadelphia Bulletin forum at Philadelphia. It was delivered by his assistant, U. Alexis Johnson, who returned 10 days ago from talks with Gen. Matthew R. Ridgway and other top United Nations military men in Korea.

"It is our policy," Allison said, "to confine the conflict to Korea. We do not propose to widen the scope of the war. That has been our policy from the start. That remains our policy. It is up to the Communists. If they want to widen the conflict and engulf the world in a terrible world war then they must be the ones to do it."

Truce talks at Panmunjom are deadlocked now over several issues. Allison and his closest associates as well as military leaders are reported to believe still that the odds are at least even on the possibility of agreement on a truce.

They have been considering for many weeks, however, what the U.S. should do in event of a collapse of negotiations. It is known that consideration has been given to carrying the war directly against China. It now is apparent that the decision has been reached to avoid this if possible.

In reaching this decision, the advice of military leaders that a bigger effort in the Far East would mean a weakening of U.S. home air and other forces, has been a decisive factor.

Turnbull Abandons Drug Saving Plan

The provincial government, pushed by the C.C.F., has decided to withdraw an order which would have restricted medicinal and pharmaceutical benefits to welfare cases in British Columbia.

The order originally was to have taken effect March 1, but last Friday the C.C.F. forced the government to suspend the order while Health and Welfare Minister A. D. Turnbull prepared a statement explaining his stand.

Three Men Being Considered For B.C. Labor Post

International officers of the American Federation of Labor are studying the qualifications of three B.C. men who have been nominated for the position of A.F.L. organizer in the province. Under consideration are William McLaughlin, Victoria, presently employed as a conciliation officer with the Labor Relations Board; Robert Guthrie, Vancouver, member of the T.L.C. provincial executive, and Frank Carlisle, Vancouver, business agent of the plumbers' union there.

At the conclusion of Tuesday afternoon's sitting, Turnbull read his statement defending the order, but concluded with:

"However, in view of the rather widespread misunderstanding of the order, I'm having it withdrawn."

Turnbull, explaining the circumstances leading up to the order, said the cost of drugs to pensioners and welfare cases had increased "alarmingly" from $144,000 to $571,000 in 1951—a 300 per cent advance.

"And yet, during these four years, the druggists of the province did not increase the cost of materials for these drugs, or the cost of compounding them," the minister said.

CONTROL NEEDED He added that recently the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association requested an increase which, if granted, might boost drug costs by $100,000.

He did in this line, Turnbull said Alberta contributes nothing and in Saskatchewan each person is required to pay 20 per cent of the cost of most drugs required.

An investigation, he continued, showed that many of the prescriptions were for certain drugs which were but costly elaborations of basic drugs.

"We decided that the fairest method of control would be to list certain drugs which would be filled on prescription by the Provincial Pharmacy only. This method takes nothing away from

Waitress Jailed For Selling Drugs

VANCOUVER, March 5 (CP)—A 20-year-old waitress was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary in police court here Tuesday on two charges of selling narcotics.

Hazel Hogansen pleaded guilty to both charges. She sold narcotics on two separate occasions to Constable Wally Gorgopas, then an R.C.M.P. undercover agent.

Tons Of Paper Carry Message: 'Follow Birds'

Three tons of paper were needed last year to produce public folders boosting Vancouver Island as a tourist attraction.

George I. Warren, director of the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau, told Victoria North Kwantlen Club members Tuesday night that the folders were distributed free on request of prospective visitors to the Island.

He said the bureau has given service to 163,300 persons in the past three years.

Warren recalled how Vancouver had given this city a big boost when the slogan "Follow the Birds to Victoria" was posted on a billboard opposite the C.P.R. wharf in the mainland city.

The speaker added that the slogan originated here and was copyrighted in the 1920's.

When the publicity bureau head takes a vacation, he stays on the Island where he can enjoy his favorite sport of fishing.

Crisp fresh vegetables set like precious gems in sparkling Lemon Jell-O... so refreshing for the "locked-in" flavor of Lemon Jell-O is pure fruit from real lemons. Remember, there are 7 delicious flavors of Jell-O. Dissolve 1 pkg. of Lemon Jell-O and 1/4 tsp. salt in 1 1/4 cups hot water. Add 2 tbsps. vinegar, 2 tbsps. grated onion, dash of pepper. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in 3/4 cup grated carrots and 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper. Chill until firm. Unmould. Serves 6.

Honey Pecan Bavarian

Captured—the flavor of freshly-picked fruit! With Jell-O Jelly Powders, dishes like this taste as good as they look, take but a few minutes to make!

1 package Strawberry Jell-O 2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup honey
1 1/2 cups hot water 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/2 cup chopped pecan meats

Dissolve Jell-O and salt in hot water. Add lemon juice and honey. Reserve 3/4 cup. Chill remaining Jell-O until slightly thickened; fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny. Then fold in pecan meats. Turn into mould; chill. When firm, pour the 3/4 cup reserved Jell-O on top; chill. Unmould. Serves 5. For large mould, double recipe.

JELL-O

YOU UNLOCK THE "LOCKED-IN" FLAVOR

Only with Jell-O brand, the fresh flavor is locked right in each tiny particle by an exclusive Jell-O process. Smell a package of Jell-O when you open it—there's scarcely any aroma, because the flavor is sealed in until you release it by adding the water to Jell-O. There is no substitute for Jell-O... try it and be convinced.

Made after breakfast—it's ready in time for lunch.

NO OTHER DESSERT CAN BE SERVED IN SO MANY WAYS!

Jell-O is a registered trade-mark owned in Canada by General Foods, Limited.

INCOME TAX RETURNS MUST BE PRODUCED

Surprise Move In Trial Of 'Bookies'

VANCOUVER, March 5 (CP)—A ruling that the sealed income tax returns of 26 persons standing trial on bookmaking conspiracy charges must be produced in Assize Court today was made Tuesday by Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker.

The trial judge made the ruling after he was informed that the British Columbia Appeal Court has declined to hear immediately an appeal that the returns are confidential and should not be introduced as evidence in a criminal case.

An order-in-council referring the matter to the Appeal Court was passed in Victoria Saturday at a special meeting of the cabinet.

The department of internal revenue requested this procedure. Income tax officials feel returns are confidential and should not be introduced as evidence in a criminal case.

This was borne out by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of the Appeal Court when Fred Shepard, representing the income tax department, presented his appeal motion.

SETS PRECEDENT

"I expect this is the only time this jurisdiction has been undertaken in Canada," he said.

The Appeal Court justices said they would not hear the appeal "until after a verdict has been reached in the bookmaking-conspiracy trial."

When their decision was announced at the conspiracy trial by assisting prosecutor Stanley J. Remant, Q.C., Mr. Justice Whittaker said: "There must be compliance with the order for production."

(He first ruled Feb. 18 that the forms be produced.)

Defense lawyers protested they needed more time to consider their position in view of the Appeal Court ruling.

The trial judge then ruled that the documents be produced at court opening today but said they should be sealed to allow the defense to present further arguments.

Nova Scotia House Wants Federal Inquiry Into Proposed Seaway Job

By the Canadian Press
A Liberal member of the Nova Scotia Legislature wants a federal inquiry into the St. Lawrence seaway project to study "with a neutral eye its economic implications."

S. W. Proudfoot (L-Pictou West) Tuesday told the Nova Scotia Legislature during the Throne Speech debate that there is some doubt as to what effect the seaway will have on Maritime industry.

ALBERTA
H. B. MacDonald (Ind.-Calgary) became the first member of the Alberta Legislature to cross from the opposition side of the House to the government benches. The move was made after a caucus of Social Credit members invited MacDonald to make the change.

He is the lone survivor of the Independent Party movement formed in an effort to defeat the government in the 1940 provincial election. MacDonald said he will support "absolutely" Social Credit party theory and economic doctrine.

NEW BRUNSWICK

The New Brunswick Legislature heard a plea by Louis A. Lebel (L-Restigouche) for rehabilitation of roads in southern New Brunswick. Speaking in the Throne Speech debate he also rapped what he called the Progressive Conservative opposition practice of speculating on possible cabinet changes. He termed it a "Tory shuffle game."

Victoria's Bid Gains Momentum

Victoria's campaign to get a capital city grant from the government is gaining momentum. Capt. D. J. Proudfoot (Government, Victoria), has filed notice of several relative questions in the legislature. The questions were directed to Public Works Minister E. T. Kenney. Capt. Proudfoot has asked the value of provincial government-owned land and improvements in the city "for which the government pays no taxes." He also asked if the government carries insurance on the improvements. He wants to know the amount, if any is carried.

HE WROTE BOOK OF WAR'S HORROR

German Panzer Veteran Hunts Work As Ambitious Immigrant To Canada

One of Victoria's newest citizens once beat the Russians at 10-to-1 odds in a game of life and death.

For blond-haired, German immigrant Heinz Schmidt that meant surviving cold and starvation in a Soviet prison camp where nine out of 10 men died over a six-year period.

Dresden-born Schmidt arrived in Canada last December after his liberation from the Russian camp in 1949. He came to Victoria three weeks ago after working in the Quebec bush to pay off his government-issued steamer fare and other expenses.

Nine years ago he was a corporal in a Panzer division that was battling the Russian army near Orel. Captured, along with other German troops, the 39-year-old German was sent to a camp to work in asbestos mines and forests.

LIFE OR DEATH
Schmidt, who told his story through an interpreter, said the

he gambled and won.

Russians gave their prisoners a choice of life or death—the more work they turned out the better they were fed. For those that were unable to produce, death was their only reward.

"Conditions were terrible," he said. "Many men died each day of cold and starvation because they were too weak to work."

"Treatment of the men was bad, not only from the Russian guards but from the Germans who were placed in key positions in the camp to supervise the work."

Schmidt was one of the "lucky" ones—he withstood the treatment for six years.

ONLY 100 SURVIVED
"Of the thousand men who were sent to the camp, only 100 were still alive when we were repatriated in 1949," Schmidt said.

One of the last to leave, he returned to Dresden and when the opportunity presented itself, was able to emigrate to Canada.

Schmidt had a good working knowledge of English before he entered the German army in 1939.

He forgot most of it during the war years, but is learning again and carries a small German-English pocket dictionary to help him over the rough spots.

Schmidt has turned his prison camp experiences into a book—"Land Without Mercy"—and hopes to find a publisher who will take a look at it. His ambition is to write and when he returned to Dresden he corresponded for a German language paper in Brazil for a time.

Today he is looking for a job. One of the "lucky hundred," ex-corporal Schmidt thinks Canada will offer him the chance to make up for some of the lost time the Russians still owe him.

Saanich Growers Plot Production

Close to 100 growers gathered Tuesday and today at Saanichton Experimental Farm for discussion of developments in fruit and vegetable production.

It is the first time such meetings have been held for several years. They were sponsored by Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, and conducted by H. C. Oldfield, president.

Speakers were from the trade, the experimental station, and federal and provincial agriculture departments.

CHINESE RED TAUGHT BALL THE HARD WAY

WITH U.S. 40TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Korea, March 5 (AP).—A Chinese Communist learned fast how to play baseball—with hand grenades.

Fortieth Division infantrymen caught him slipping through barbed wire. They started pitching grenades.

To their surprise, the Communist stood up and batted the grenades downhill with a large plank.

After half a dozen safe hits, the batter darted away and the game was over.

"He was one batter who couldn't afford to strike out," said Sgt. Finn Askildsen.

B.C. Gains In Tungsten Production

British Columbia is fast becoming one of the important producers of tungsten in the western world.

Provincial mines department officials are optimistic about the future of the province's tungsten production.

Two mines are already producing tungsten, at least four more are being developed to start operating as soon as possible, and many properties are being investigated.

"B.C. can supply Canada with tungsten now, and there soon should be an exportable surplus," said Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy mines minister.

The Orient used to supply most of the tungsten for the North American continent. However, these supplies have been cut off and the price has nearly tripled to $65 a short ton unit. Defense authorities are snapping up any tungsten available.

Doubling of production of Canada's biggest mine, at Salmo, B.C., 300 miles east of Vancouver, is expected by spring. A 250-ton mill being run for the Canadian government is being enlarged for the owners, Canadian Exploration Ltd., to make a total capacity of 500 tons of ore a day.

The second producing mine is the Red Rose of Western Uranium, near Hazelton, which is shipping to Great Britain.

Black Diamond Tungsten Ltd. expects to start underground work this spring at a site near Atlin Lake, 900 miles north of Vancouver.

Along the Alaska Highway, five miles north of Mile 701 in the Yukon, the Yukon Tungsten Corporation Ltd. is developing a deposit. Another property being developed is on the Stikine River, 40 miles south of Telegraph Creek.

British Columbia and Yukon mines officials report many other properties are being investigated in search of the strategic metal.

NEW ARRIVALS KEEP SQUAWKING

Fine Feathered Friends Find Victoria 'Muy Frio'

By MONTE ROBERTS

Slowly adjusting themselves to living in a foreign land are a dozen immigrants from South America, waiting out a 60-day period before they are officially welcomed to Canada.

Their probationary time is being spent on the frigates H.M.C.S. Antigonish and Beacon Hill, in which they made the long journey north.

One of their main troubles at the moment is their unfamiliarity with the language, and parrots feel handicapped if they can't express themselves in the idiom of the country.

In fact, some of them feel so embarrassed that they won't say a word, not even the Spanish equivalent of "Polly wants a cracker."

On board Beacon Hill, however, one parrot and one macaw consented to be interviewed, on urging from their friends, A.B.'s Victor Harvey, of Regina, and Jerry Coates, of Vancouver. Coates invested $4 Canadian in his parrot, Sparks, and Harvey's macaw, Sailor, set him back $5. Asked how they liked Victoria, Sparks replied "Muy frio."

"Si, muy frio," Sailor agreed.

EASY TRANSLATION

The way they shivered and ruffled their feathers supplied the translation.

Both birds are making earnest efforts to learn English, and their owners hope they'll continue themselves to the more acceptable phrases. Yesterday Sparks tried out his meagre knowledge of the new language in looking for a good sunflower seed supplier in the Victoria phone book.

At the end of their 60-day waiting period, the birds will be examined by a federal veterinarian and, if pronounced fit and healthy, will be allowed to set claw on Canadian soil for the first time.

With their feather friends in Antigonish, Sparks and Sailor were purchased during the recent training cruise of the two frigates in South American waters.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Nanaimo is still "Nanaymo" to American radio me's but an Island man is $1,000 richer in spite of the pronunciation.

Master-of-ceremonies Bob Hawk announced Tuesday night on the "People Are Funny" show from Hollywood that N. Woods of Departure Bay Road, "Nanaymo," was winner of their weekly $1,000 contest.

Contestants are asked to send in their funniest experiences to compete for the award.

Full marks were awarded to Ann Crawford, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Crawford, 1031 Chamberlain, in recent grade two theory examination conducted by Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto. Jo Ann has been studying music for past five years.

Clouds and showers are expected over Victoria this evening and Thursday will be sunny with cloudy periods, according to the weather forecast.

Oak Bay High School students will present a Gilbert and Sullivan opera Thursday and Friday nights at 8.15 this week in the school auditorium.

Under the direction of Gilbert Brown, students will take part in an abridged version of "The Gondoliers," in addition to a play, "Sitting Bull," and a dancing demonstration.

Monthly meeting of the Victoria Local Council of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada will be held at 8 Thursday evening in the lower board room of the Naval Veterans' Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Andrew Whisker (Govt., Cowichan-Newcastle), will address the Langford Liberal Association Thursday in the Canadian Legion Hall.

J. A. Byers, acting as counsel for Peter Ostbye, Oslo, Norway, filed a writ in Supreme Court Registry today claiming $9,000 from Harry Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road, real estate agent.

The plaintiff claims that Langley received through the Victoria branch of the Bank of Montreal and the Chase National Bank, New York, a sum of $9,000 in July, 1949. Ostbye alleges that the sum was to be held by Langley for the use by himself.

George B. Martin, naval rating, who ignored two warning shots fired by police last Sunday night, was fined $75 in city police court today for taking a car without the owner's consent.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Monday.

Police caught him in a chase after the sailor had abandoned the car he had taken.

Charles E. Thompson, 19, of Victoria, was given a suspended sentence in city police court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall for theft.

Thompson, caught in the act, pleaded guilty to raiding city parking meters of 61 cents. He was ordered to post a bond of $500 to be of good behavior for six months.

Opposition Leader Herbert Anscomb will seek the Progressive Conservative nomination again in Oak Bay for the coming provincial election.

The Tory leader in British Columbia said today he wants to continue to represent the "fine riding of Oak Bay."

Anscomb, former finance minister, was elected to the Legislature to represent Victoria in 1933 and, on redistribution of seats, was elected to represent Oak Bay in 1941.

Area's Defense Costs Soaring

$3,000,000 Program May Be Much Higher When Rocky Point Installations Ordered

By ROY THORSEN

A $3,000,000 program to modernize defense and military housing here is in progress by Victoria construction men.

It is the biggest building program for the services here since the Royal Engineers erected brick barracks blocks at Work Point before the turn of the century.

With the Army and Navy forces in this sector, increasing steadily the need to provide more comfortable living quarters, better messes and more modern defense facilities, the indication is the present construction bill will be boosted over the next few years.

Feature of the building projects is the $2,000,000 combination barracks and mess hall under construction for Royal Canadian Navy.

It is located between H.M.C.S. Naden gates and Esquimalt Road off Admirals Road. Naval officials report the messing facilities will handle 3,000 men at a sitting. It is being built by Commonwealth Construction and will provide accommodation for 500.

ARMY ACCOMMODATION

In the main section of the Work Point garrison area, old buildings have been demolished and rising in their places are a modern hall that will house 300 soldiers at a sitting and a three-story building that will house 180 men.

Being built by the firm of George H. Wheaton these buildings will cost $675,000.

At Harrison Point, near the shoreline, a radar building which will play a big part in defense in case of attack by an enemy, is rising. It is being built by George Farmer Construction Co. at a cost of $178,000.

In addition, 26 family units to house officers and men are being built at Work Point by Farmer Construction at a cost of about $246,000.

Rumor has it that the navy plans to take over Rocky Point at William Head, which would entail further construction. However, there is no official information on plans for the area.

Park Charges For Amateurs Sharply Cut

Amateur sport groups will now be able to use enclosed city parks for 15 per cent of gate receipts and a minimum charge of $10.

The new deal is retroactive to Jan. 1 and was approved by City Council parks committee today.

Former arrangements called for 20 per cent of gate receipts with a $20 minimum charge. The percentage cut was made at the last meeting, but Parks Administrator W. H. Warren asked further review and queried today if it was blanket for all amateur sports.

Originally the soccer club had requested the change.

MOVE BY MULLINER

At today's meeting the cut in the minimum charge was made after Ald. Frank Mulliner, chairman, said amateur sports could not be expected to pay their way completely.

Cost of preparing Royal Athletic Park for a football game June 2 is a matter between the Victoria Baseball Co. and Victoria United Football Club, the committee ruled.

Warren stated that the last time the park was used by a visiting soccer team the local football club paid the ball company $400 for use of the park on a baseball game day, but the city had to face a $98 park clean-up bill.

He said the clean-up was the responsibility of the ball company under such circumstances. City Solicitor Arthur Patton said the matter was covered in the city's agreement with the ball company.

VENTURE KNOWN HAZARD

Paganini Quartet Again To Play For Victorians

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

When the Paganini Quartet first played in Victoria in October of 1950, the sponsoring committee of the Arts Centre knew it to be a venture not without hazard.

Chamber music was an acquired taste; a matter for connoisseurs. Nevertheless, it was also one of the highest forms of music and the Paganini group was among the greatest exemplars of the art. So the committee went bravely ahead. And how well they were rewarded!

The Paganinis not only played to a capacity audience, but it was an audience that expressed sincere enthusiasm. The event took its place as one of the finest of many musical seasons.

Now that we are about to have the opportunity to hear this remarkable foursome again — on Monday evening next — there seems every likelihood that the Victoria High School auditorium will not hold all who wish to attend. The very nature of the

MOTHER HERE

Vet Credited With Spotting Cattle Plague

Dr. Norman V. James, Regina, veterinarian credited with discovering foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan before it could spread, has been an animal lover all his life, according to his mother.

She is Mrs. H. J. Cowan, 93, who lives at 1037 Richardson, and has been here for the last 22 years.

"As a boy in Portage la Prairie he once surprised us all by treating the family dog for poison," she said today. "The rest of us were all excited but he was cool and collected, and quite unconcerned. It was only natural for him to become a vet."

He served overseas as a captain in the First World War, and made a reputation for himself by his successful treatment of horses.

He is an accomplished rider and harness racer, and has always owned horses.

HORSES HIS HOBBY

"He is more interested in horses than anything else," said his mother, a good rider herself in her younger days.

Dr. James, employed by the federal government, is credited with saving the country millions of dollars through his prompt action in spotting the disease. He became suspicious when he heard of the ailment that had baffled an Indian Head veterinary, and notified Ottawa immediately.

His report resulted in the chain of events that has raised hopes across the country that the disease can be stamped out at an early date.

City Curling Rink Planned

Final Approval Expected At Meeting This Evening

Possibility of an eight sheet, $150,000 curling rink in Victoria was bright today with 400 members of the Victoria Curling Association slated to hold their annual meeting tonight.

Association president Max Zabel said: "Prospects at present are excellent. This is a thing that Victoria must have and we intend to see it through."

Tonight, in City Hall chambers, members will complete plans for the rink. Zabel said the program will start immediately following approval by the meeting.

That would mean building in June with completion next October.

The rink, to be financed by the sale of debentures, according to plans, would be constructed on property facing Quadra Street, directly behind Memorial Arena. Zabel said this could be the finest site in western Canada and that the rink would be the largest west of Calgary. The property is owned by the Curling Association.

$50,000 TO START

While construction would cost close to $150,000, Zabel said work could be started with $50,000.

Last year $40,000 was collected towards a rink but government restrictions on steel and pipes forced cancellation of plans and the return of all moneys subscribed.

"Federal government restrictions have been lifted now and all we need to make this a success is the support of the people of Victoria," Zabel said.

The rink would be constructed of concrete blocks with a 20-year guarantee tag roof.

VISITORS' ATTRACTION

Emphasizing the need for a rink in Victoria, Zabel said: "Every year we have a great number of prairie people who come to this city for the winter. Prairie people work hard all summer and live for their winter curling."

"Curling could be our biggest winter tourist attraction," he added. Regina, with 60,000 people, has just completed the biggest bonspiel in Canada's history with 346 rinks entered.

"Nanaimo built a rink last year. Port Alberni is currently building and Duncan has collected $15,000 towards a six-sheet rink."

"We, of the association, feel it is high time something was done for Victoria. After all, the Dominion Curling Association is the biggest affiliated sports organization in Canada and we are part of the D.C.A."

B.C. CROPS URGED TO CUT FOOD BILL

Province's Vegetable Imports $1,000,000; Farmers' Institutes Ask More Public Funds

With more assistance from the provincial department of agriculture, B.C. farms could produce a lot more foodstuff for home consumption, and save householders a lot more money.

This was the argument presented today by representatives of the advisory board of the B.C. Farmers' Institutes of B.C. before the Legislature's standing committee on agriculture.

The submission was made in support of a claim that the Legislature should provide the agricultural department with a lot more money with which to work.

A. H. Peppar, from Fraser Valley, declared more than $1,000,000 worth of vegetables were imported into B.C. last year, which could have been grown in the province if the agricultural department had been in a financial position to carry out its plans. He argued freight charges on every ton of imported vegetables ran to $30.

Peppar claimed the agriculture department was getting a "raw deal" from the government.

He pointed out that this year's provincial budget allowed only 8 per cent of its total to the department.

'SHODDY TREATMENT'

"No other province gives its agricultural department such shoddy treatment," Peppar charged.

He quoted figures showing other Canadian provinces allowed from 2 to 6 per cent of their budgets for agriculture.

The institute representatives demanded once again that the daylight saving issue be submitted to the people. They asked for a plebiscite at the next general election.

Another annual submission concerned extension of the P.G.E. Railway. This year, however, the farmers asked for extension of the railway at the south end to North Vancouver as well as extension in the north to Peace River. The delegates were divided, however, when asked which end should be extended first.

VIEWS OPPOSED

Peppar argued that the southern terminal should be completed first.

P. A. Leeland, of Peace River, submitted the northern end should be extended first to permit wheat farmers there to get their product to the existing elevators at Prince Rupert. At present, he said, the Peace River district is tied to the economy of Alberta, rather than B.C., because of the lack of transportation.

On other matters, the farmers asked for greater haste on the part of B.C. Power Commission to provide service to rural areas; changes in the system of tax sales of land, and abolition of the school tax on farm land.

The board again put itself on record as being opposed to coloring margarine.

Two motorists were fined $40 each in city police court today for driving infractions.

William F. Duchman, 960 Lodge, was fined $40 for careless driving and Donald M. Jenkins, 1536 Athlone, got the same penalty for violating a restriction on a driver's license.

Trimming For Trim Bandsmen

Volunteer seamstresses of Mount View High School are putting finishing touches to the smart satin capes to be worn by the school's bandsmen. The band's third annual concert is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at 8 in the big school auditorium. Left to right are Kay Vowles, Elsie Jernslet and Florence Scrimshaw. John Tamblin directs the band. (Times photo.)

Kamloops Fears 'Sons' Invasion

B.C. farmers are fearful of the consequences if Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are allowed to settle in the vicinity of Kamloops.

For this reason, the advisory board of the B.C. Farmers' Institutes asked the Legislature's standing committee on agriculture today to press the government to keep Sons of Freedom at least 200 miles away from the central interior city.

The farmers pointed out that three ammunition depots were situated at Kamloops, that oil and gas pipelines are planned to run through the vicinity, and that both national railway lines pass through the area.

The institute representatives said the government should prohibit Sons of Freedom from settling in any area within a radius of 200 miles of the city.

Young Lawyer, A. B. Macfarlane, 'Y' President

Alan B. Macfarlane was elected president of the board of directors of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. at its annual meeting on Tuesday night.

The 27-year-old barrister became the youngest man ever elected to the position, fitting into a nation-wide Y.M.C.A. plan to place young men in the executive ranks of its association.

Others elected to the board were: William Gilmour, first vice-president, and A. J. Cowie, second vice-president. Re-elected were G. E. G. Whitaker, treasurer, and Cecil Lewis, recording secretary.

Tribute was paid the Y.M.C.A. in a short address by Mayor C. L. Harrison.

Special guest at the meeting was Leslie Vipond, personnel secretary on the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. of Canada. Vipond said the Y.M.C.A. across Canada was in the midst of a great expansion movement, which included the construction of many new buildings.

City's Executive Committee Slapped By School Board

City council's executive committee had its wrists slapped today by Greater Victoria School Board.

At a recent executive committee meeting Ald. Waldo Skillings moved the board be asked to cut its estimates for 1952 by $50,000. The committee approved and got endorsement of city council.

A written request was sent the board.

T. L. Christie, school board secretary, wrote the city today that under the Public Schools Act, negotiations with regard to estimates are to be at council and board level, not on a committee basis.

"It is the understanding of the board that the finance committee of the city recommended approval of the budget and the board would point out with respect, that a majority of the council's executive committee is not necessarily a majority of city council," he wrote.

The board assumed its 1952 estimates are accepted. In view of the fact that council did not take exception as provided under the Public Schools Act.

Britain Leads World In Rebuilding Merchant Fleet After Huge War Losses

By MONTE ROBERTS, Times Marine Reporter

The dramatic story of Britain's notable effort to replace merchant ship war losses and hold her position as a seafaring, sea-trading power is told in Lloyd's official report on ship-building in 1951.

More merchant tonnage went down the ways of world shipyards in 1951 than in any other non-war year since 1921. The volume launched in Great Britain and Northern Ireland alone was greater than in any year since 1930—including even the hectic building days of the war years.

Of all tonnage launched last year, 36 per cent was in Great Britain and Northern Ireland—a total of 1,341,024 gross tons. These shipyards lead the world in production.

Canada's building activities were mighty quiet, though. A matter of 55,130 gross tons, most of it built in yards along the Great Lakes.

This leaves Canada with a total active merchant tonnage of 1,647,000—a little more than that of Denmark. We showed a net deficit of 284,000 tons during the year, due to transfer of registry to U.K.

It's probably just a wistful dream, but wouldn't it be nice if Canada did something concrete about building a real blue-water merchant marine? It's all very well to cheer the ships of foreign registry using our ports—but it would be nice to have more of our own ships carrying our goods abroad.

THE CHOKO STORY—Ss. Choko, on her way to Japan with a cargo of Virginia coal, encountered trouble from the time she bunkered in San Pedro last November. She couldn't get steam from the Pedro coal; she slipped up to Nanaimo, swapped coal, and still couldn't get steam. She put into Esquimalt for repairs, and (guess what) couldn't get steam. Finally, her master, Capt. A. R. Phelps, got permission to burn his cargo.

To the relief of all concerned, the cargo burned fine, and Choko was all set to leave for Japan.

Then, as we read in our last installment, her cargo started to heat up. It had been in her holds too long, and was running a dangerous temperature of 140 degrees.

In today's thrilling episode of the Choko story, we learn that Empire Stevedoring, in the past week, has unloaded 2,000 of her 7,000 tons of coal, and will take off practically all the rest.

The coal is being trucked all over Ogden Point docks and spread in shallow lots to cool.

Nobody cares to estimate how long it will take, but after the coal is unloaded and cooled it will be scooped up again and reloaded.

Then—who knows? Will Choko sail for Japan? Will her first officer ever get that shore job in Frisco? Will her chief get back to Vancouver in time to plant his garden? (To be continued.)

MARINERS, PLEASE NOTE: H.M.C.S. Quebec will carry out full power and full steering trials in Juan de Fuca Strait, from early morning to dark, Friday. Keep well clear, please. . . north channel under Granville Street Bridge, Vancouver, is free of obstruction and free for navigation again.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Column Today Strictly For Mother's Helpers!

By PENNY SAVER

I'm speaking strictly to the young girls today. Of course you can peek over their shoulder if you want to. I don't mind. Junior Miss, how many times have you helped mother around the house with the dusting, polishing, and other odd jobs?

I bet there have been numerous times when you haven't been able to slip out of the house in time and you've been put to work helping your mother.

Oh, you may be five or 10 minutes late meeting the gang for the show, but you don't mind too much and settle down to the job you have been assigned.

You're getting along fine dusting the chairs, tables, and the mirror.

"The mirror!" cries your mother in horror. "Do you mean to say that you dusted the mirror with the same cloth that you used on the table and chairs?"

You crawl out from under the table after the blast and meekly answer, "Yes."

"You know better than that," says mother, "there is one dusting cloth for the dark furniture and another for the light pieces and the mirror."

Now that that's cleared up and the job has been completed, rightly or wrongly as the case may be, it's done, and you head for the show.

You are almost to the show when you happen to see a sign in the window of a store that may change your whole life.

There it is in big bold letters for all the world to see—even your mother—ALL-PURPOSE CLEANING CLOTH.

Of course, you don't waste a minute whipping into the store to inquire about it.

Looks Like Paper—But It Isn't

The storekeeper tells you that this cloth comes in a roll priced at 79 pennies and looks just like paper.

You don't quite see how paper can act like cloth, but you buy a roll anyway and decide to give it a try. So, the next day when mother calls on you to help her with the work you are only too eager to try out your discovery.

Today you have been assigned to clean the windows. Boy! Here's your chance. You wet the cloth and find that water makes it soft and pliable and when you start on the windows you find that it works like a charm.

You are exclaiming to yourself when you hear a gasp behind you and turn to see your mother staring at the fistful of "paper" cloth you are rubbing over the windows.

"Here it comes," you say to yourself.

It came!

"What on earth are you doing with that paper?" she says quite loudly. "I even put the window cloth in your hand and still you can't do it properly. What am I going to do with you?"

Here's your chance. You go to great lengths to explain it to her. You even get the box the roll came in and show her all the uses for the all-purpose paper.

It says it can be used to wash dishes, dust furniture, clean windows, polish mirrors, wash woodwork, clean stoves, clean silver, polish glassware and wash autos.

"And mother, all this for 79 cents," you say.

It takes a while, but before long your mother is willing to give it a try.

It makes a hit and all is at peace in your household once more.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Emotions, Not Hard Work, Are Wasting Your Energies

We women so often act like small children with our moods and sensitiveness and depressions. Men do, too. I do not suppose there is such a thing as a truly emotionally mature person but some are much nearer it than others and it pays to get as near that goal as possible.

Our daily life would be so much happier if we didn't fret and stew over every little thing.

Psychologists say that the most important factor in a happy marriage is that the two individuals entering into it be well-adjusted persons, and that those who come from happy homes rather than those full of friction are more likely to be well-adjusted.

Now with the newer information about the effects of emotions and mental outlook we find that emotional maturity is essential for good health as well as happiness.

Psychosomatic medicine is delivering proof for what I have been writing you for years—that destructive emotions have a drastic influence on health and may speed up the aging processes.

For a long time it has been known that hard work never hurt anyone but that the accompanying emotional strains of hurry and pressure, and worry and unpleasant surroundings are the wearers-down.

Since this science is taking an increasingly important role in the treatment and prevention of ill health I have a leaflet, "Are You Aging Successfully," which may interest you. With it you can grade yourself on your emotional maturity.

This is one of the tests which Doctor George Lawton, author of the book "Aging Successfully," and Consulting Psychologist in New York uses with his patients. If you would like to have it send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

P.T.A. Notes

Tolmie—Vocal and musical selections were enjoyed by those who attended the pussy willow tea held recently by Tolmie P.T.A. Tea was served by Mrs. G. Wells and her committee.

Cordova Bay—A skit was presented by Don Macmurchie and his associates in the department of forests, parks branch, at the recent meeting of Cordova Bay P.T.A. A home-cooking sale followed. Mrs. Lillian Ross, president, urged members to attend Family Night, March 21, in the church hall when a program will be presented by children.

Jenkins-Bank—Contributing to Education Week program, Miss Gwladys Downes of Victoria College staff, addressed the Monday night meeting of Margaret Jenkins-Bank Street P.T.A. Miss Downes said that students at college and university were handicapped by a poor background in essential subjects. She added "that the students' level was three or four years below what it should be; adult students were being presented with work which they might have done at 13 years of age and which was adapted to their skill but not to their maturity."

The college student, she continued, should not have to waste time acquiring skills but be ready to deal with ideas. Miss Downes mourned the loss of the idea of actual factual knowledge; the matriculation examination, she averred, now has only a relative value and mass education appeared to be lowering the standards. The association is holding a rummage sale on Saturday at Hard of Hearing Hall.

Psychologists say that the most important factor in a happy marriage is that the two individuals entering into it be well-adjusted persons, and that those who come from happy homes rather than those full of friction are more likely to be well-adjusted.

Now with the newer information about the effects of emotions and mental outlook we find that emotional maturity is essential for good health as well as happiness.

Psychosomatic medicine is delivering proof for what I have been writing you for years—that destructive emotions have a drastic influence on health and may speed up the aging processes.

For a long time it has been known that hard work never hurt anyone but that the accompanying emotional strains of hurry and pressure, and worry and unpleasant surroundings are the wearers-down.

Since this science is taking an increasingly important role in the treatment and prevention of ill health I have a leaflet, "Are You Aging Successfully," which may interest you. With it you can grade yourself on your emotional maturity.

This is one of the tests which Doctor George Lawton, author of the book "Aging Successfully," and Consulting Psychologist in New York uses with his patients. If you would like to have it send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Poodle Cut Not For Youth, It's For The Grandmothers

TORONTO, March 3 (CP)—Robert King, a hair stylist from New York, thinks there are "too many faint hearts" in the hair-dressing business.

"On the whole, hairdressers lack imagination and courage to tell their customers the truth about their appearance," he said in an interview.

On the subject of poodle cuts—a style in which the hair is chopped to about two inches and curled softly all over the head—he said that the teenagers now going in for the craze should leave it to their grandmothers. Poodle cuts are most becoming on white-haired and grey-haired women.

The poodle-cut style takes too much work to keep in shape to last long, he says. The hair must be trimmed every two weeks and a permanent must be given every two months.

The poodle-cut craze won't last beyond the summer, Mr. King predicted. "Hair is going to be longer and more casual in the autumn. The formal poodle cuts will go."

Donations—At the recent meeting of Colwood Women's Institute when Adelaide Hoodless Day was celebrated, it was voted to make a donation toward expenses of a Girl Guide to attend jamboree in Ottawa, another to Shower of Dimes and another to medical expenses of a boy in the district.

Mrs. E. Emery gave a talk on founding of institute. A food parcel was collected for a needy family and letter of thanks was read from adopted institute in England. Arrangements were made for annual spring tea and plant sale in April.

Peacetime Application In The Field Of Atomic Energy Many And Varied

Isotope production branch of Canada's Chalk River atomic energy project last year made over 800 shipments of more than 70 different radioactive isotopes to industries, universities, research institutions and hospitals. Dr. David A. Keyes, one of the directors, told Women's Canadian Club Tuesday afternoon.

These isotopes have been used, among other things, for photographing castings, examining them for internal imperfections; the range of flight of mosquitoes has been measured by placing larvae in water containing a little radioisotope of strontium; it has been possible to find where the pine weevil hibernates through placing a drop of weak solution of cobalt 60 on its hard-shell wings.

The value of fertilizers has been checked and absorption of such chemicals by roots of trees in lands of different moisture contents.

Treatment of hyperthyroidism by using radioisotopes Iodine 131 has become established practice. Dr. Keyes said, and some types of inflammation and tumors have been labeled with radioisotopes so that their present can be detected externally.

"In the treatment of cancer," the speaker added, "isotope of cobalt 60, which gives off radiations similar to radium and X-ray machines, affords possibilities of beneficial treatment owing to the fact that at Chalk River units can be produced which give radiation equivalent to that from several pounds of radium or a 2,000,000 X-ray machine."

In this connection, the speaker said two such telecurium sources have been produced and are now installed in hospitals for the treatment of cancer at Saskatoon and in London, Ont.

A rummage sale is being arranged by members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club on Saturday morning in the Public Market. Members' donations of articles for the sale may be left at Minnie Beveridge Millinery, 778 Fort Street, or will be picked up by telephoning the convener, Mrs. Mabel Curry, B 2091, evenings.

"The future affords many possibilities for peacetime applications of atomic energy, among these the production of useful power units," Dr. Keyes pointed out. "And some day we may be able to produce more fissionable fuel than we could possibly burn up," he added.

Dr. Keyes described the village at Deep River, its community life, and the atomic energy plant that occupies a few hundred acres on the river, in an area of approximately 10,000 acres expropriated near the village.

"There is only one road leading to the plant," he said, "and a mile from the highway a guard-house is occupied by guards day and night, who stop all unauthorized traffic from proceeding into the area."

Dr. Keyes was introduced and thanked by the club president, Mrs. W. H. Wilson.

Britain's Women In Forces

LONDON (CP). — Britain's "Soldiers of the Queen" include more than 22,700 women in uniform. The bulk are in the three armed forces—the Women's Royal Naval Service, the Women's Royal Army Corps and the Women's Royal Air Force. In the services they do a vast variety of different tasks. Although normally non-combatants, they are trained alongside men, and frequently work with men as part of a team. Many are employed as cooks, clerks and drivers. Others are trained for exacting and responsible duties, as aircraft and radar mechanics, electrical engineers and such. They do administrative and accounting jobs, catering, and even police work. The armed services, of course, are only a part of the national service effort put forward by women. Thousands have joined the civil defense corps and there are over 2,000 in the auxiliary fire services.

Members of Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institutes honored a charter member, Mrs. J. Hutchison, with a "Leap-Year" birthday party at a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hankin, Happy Valley Road. Mrs. Hutchison was celebrating her "15th" birthday. Games and bingo were enjoyed also a reading by Mrs. J. Flatman and a comic monologue by the guest of honor. A birthday cake with candles centred the refreshment table, flanked by crystal bowls of snowdrops. Mrs. H. Baxter presented Mrs. Hutchison with a bouquet of spring flowers and a gift on behalf of the assembled guests.

N'ICE CUBES

A sweet young thing came into our store, "are your refrigerators," inquired "on this floor?" "No," I replied, "but we've a nice show, if you'll follow me, to the floor below." "Isn't it lovely, this gorgeous spring weather?" We came to the Frig's... all stacked together. "Now... THIS one," I pointed, "is 9 cu. feet, has a bigger place to store the meat. Has a flock of cold zones, plus inner tubes, which gives you oodles of frozen cubes. There's more space, too, the design of each shelf. No... it DOESN'T, defrost itself. But it does ring a bell & carried on so, if you let the orange juice get too low. And this horn here, lets out a wham, if you put inside some garlic ham. "My," she exclaimed, "now isn't that nice, I'd no idea, such a device." That door, too, it's hinged on a spring these guys have that of everything. "Hmmm... she said, it seems awfully nice, ah, er, could you tell me, please, WHAT IS THE PRICE?" "Par-don," I asked, "what's that you said," over her face a smile was spread. "The PRICE," she repeated, & her voice did climb. "I heard you," I said, "the very first time. The PRICE, eh? ... the question is fair, "have you," I smiled, "been everywhere?" She looked at me, a little dumbfounded, "have you," I repeated, "... been around?" "We-I-I... yes," she replied, "others I've seen, if THAT by chance, is what you mean?" "Then tell me, eh, if you don't mind, "what's the price of a similar kind?" "You MEAN," she replied, as I toyed with my socks, "if I DO, or DON'T... have an old box?" "We-I-I... just for the record, say that you DO, as you say... you've seen quite a few?" "NO," she said, "you tell ME first, tell me YOUR PRICE... for better or worst." Laughter echoed down in that room, "well have you," I asked, "got an old broom?" "A BROOM?" she queried, laughing a fit, "what's THAT got... to do with it?" "Let's be serious... what do you say, you want to know HOW MUCH to pay?" "YES," she hooted, with me it's no dice, YOU gotta tell ME... WHAT'S YOUR PRICE?" I looked in her eye, I said quite slow, "Lovely Lady... I do not know. There IS a List Price, if you'd like to know that, but we no longer know just where we are at. Why buy a Frig, is there REALLY a need, why not shoot your dough, say a new coat of Tweed?? I wouldn't buy a Frig, if I were you, when an old orange box, out the window will do. We've only three months of very warm weather, & so we talked, & laughed together. "P-l-e-a-s-e tell me," she implored, "before I go." "HON-ESTLY sweetheart... I DO NOT KNOW. For something else, would n't you settle, this washer, say, in gleaming metal?? Look at the plastic agitator." "NO," she stamped, a refrigerator. "Now... don't be foolish... don't squander your dough, there's my phone, I GOTTA go; that orange box, eh, don't go for these fads, you've just been readin'... TOO MANY ADS." WE waved By-By, as I picked up the phone, I paused a moment... then let out a groan. The man shouted louder, repeated it twice... "ARE YOU DEAF? ... A REFRIGERATOR... WHAT'S YOUR PRICE????"

House Thumps Winch Clan's Achievement

The provincial government braced itself for a C.C.F. attack in the House Tuesday; but it didn't come off.

Randolph Harding (C.C.F., Kaslo-Slocan) rose at the opening of the sitting on a point of privilege and said "a matter of great historical importance had arisen." Everyone wondered what was coming.

"The leader of our party is a grandfather and his father is a great-grandfather," said Harding. The House breathed easier and broke forth in unanimous desk thumping.

C.C.F. Leader Harold Winch's son, Donald, became the proud father of a baby girl Tuesday morning at New Westminster. Mr. and Mrs. Winch, Jr., live in Burnaby.

It is the first grandchild for the 44-year-old C.C.F. leader.

EVIDENCE OF DRINK IN DEATH INQUIRY

Young Couple Perished By Asphyxiation; Found In Locked Room, Gas Jet Burning

Death of a young couple in a North Park Street rooming house last Sunday was from asphyxiation "due to an accident."

This was the verdict today of a coroner's jury which heard evidence at McCall Bros. Funeral Parlor in the deaths of 20-year-old Frank Fraser, formerly of Kamloops, of 1023 North Park, and 21-year-old Doreen Alkman, 1021 North Park.

The bodies were found on a bed in Fraser's room, according to witnesses.

There was evidence the pair had been drinking.

SMELLED GAS
Iris Scott, a roomer in the same house as Fraser, testified she called police at 9:15 Sunday morning when she feared something was amiss.

She had gone to Fraser's room Saturday night to borrow some spoons and had seen the Alkman girl in his room. Both had been drinking, she testified, Fraser more than the girl.

Sunday morning Miss Scott said she smelled gas coming from the room and went to investigate. The door was locked from the inside. She called police.

Constable Lorne Shandley told the jury he forced open the door and found the couple on a bed.

Reds Would Use POW's As Club

Foe's Admission Follows U.N. Demand That Communists Account For 173 More Hostages

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea, March 5 (AP)—The Communists admitted today they held unreported prisoners and tried to use them as a club in Korean truce negotiations.

The Reds said they will supply the names of these prisoners "in due time" but only after the Allies furnish data the Communists have been demanding.

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby reported sharply that the United Nations command will furnish additional prisoner data on an exchange basis or not at all.

The Red admission followed a demand by Libby that the Communists account for 173 additional prisoners. Most of these are Americans. Some are British and Canadian.

This makes a total of 1,621 U.N. soldiers and 50,000 Republic of Korea troops for which the U.N. has demanded an accounting. None of them was listed in the original list of 11,500 prisoners of war the Reds turned over Dec. 18.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Chio referred Wednesday to the 1,500 as "the main list of prisoners of war whom we hold in prison."

"As for the necessary supplementary data," he said, "they are now being put in order and we will hand it over to your side in due time. You must give us first the basic data which you have promised to give us."

He was referring to 44,000 Koreans, originally listed by the Allies as prisoners but since reclassified as South Korean civilians and R.O.K. troops. Their names were not on the original list of 132,000 the Allies handed the Reds.

Libby said the Allies were ready to exchange complete information on prisoners, including troops captured between the time the original lists were compiled and Feb. 28.

His demand for a report on 173 men was based on names taken from Red broadcasts, letters to families, Communist periodicals and "other sources," presumably secret agents.

The request for names of 50-lain was taken prisoner and that his next-of-kin had been informed although the casualty list entry of "missing, believed killed" had not been changed.

Before today's U.N. list of unreported prisoners was made public, the total of Canadian casualties reported on official casualty lists was 650 including 121 dead, 469 wounded, 55 injured, one captured and the four missing who now are listed by the U.N. as unreported prisoners.

The Canadians were listed today as Cpl. J. R. Toole, B801850; Pte. S. G. Allain, J19811; Pte. S. D. Baker, A155660, and Pte. C. Bellefeuille, JA850907. No home towns were given.

Most of the names on the list were those of United States servicemen. Two others were Britons and one was from the Royal Australian Air Force. All the men have been mentioned in Red propaganda broadcasts, publications and other sources.

While there are some differences in initials and official numbers, the Canadian apparently are:

Pte. Joseph Terence Allain, SG3811, of Rexton, Kent County, N.B.

Cpl. John Richard Toole, B801850, of Hamilton, Ont.

Pte. Arthur Baker, SD155660, of Montreal.

Pte. Joseph Armand Bellefeuille, C850907, of Hull, Que.

The Army in Ottawa said it had earlier information that Al-

Churchill Upheld

Lacks Proper Margin, Says Ex-Finance Chief

Opposition Leader Herbert Anscomb in the Legislature today questioned whether the government's record budget has an adequate margin of safety.

The former minister of finance led off the budget debate with the charge that Premier Byrnes Johnson, and his own advisers appeared to doubt the safety of their estimate of revenues over expenditures.

Anscomb declared the wording of Premier Johnson's budget address "indicated very clearly that there may be some doubt in the mind of his experts as to whether he was quite safe in going that far."

"I doubt very much if I would have gone that far... but I know I would have been extremely conservative because I think it always better, with the economy of the country in such an inflationary spiral, to be extremely conservative as conditions could change and become drastic," said Anscomb.

The opposition leader said all he could hope is that the estimates, as presented, will be maintained.

"I suggest he (Johnson) should not preclude any margin of safety," he said. No good, sound business man would do that in his own business, so why should it be done when dealing with other people's business?"

Anscomb noted that no salary has been provided in the budget for any of the ministers who left the government when Coalition was broken.

He said it would be "physically impossible" for the present seven-man cabinet to handle all the other portfolios indefinitely.

Anscomb deplored the fact that the appropriation for agriculture was so small. He felt agriculture is being "badly neglected."

"The government is providing less than $1 per capita for the basic source of our ability to live. Then, when we think that in the last 10 years our population has increased over 40 per cent, that indicates again how little attention we are giving to this basic need," said the opposition leader.

Anscomb said the time has arrived when the government "should do something of a practical nature for Saanich and other similar areas."

He said the government should assume some of the capital costs in bringing additional water to such areas.

Four Missing Canadians On List Of Prisoners

PANMUNJOM, Korea, March 5 (CP)—The United Nations command today handed the Reds a list of 173 Allied prisoners it said were unreported prisoners of the Communists, and asked for an accounting.

The list apparently contained the names of the only four Canadians listed in Ottawa casualty lists as missing.

The Canadians were listed today as Cpl. J. R. Toole, B801850; Pte. S. G. Allain, J19811; Pte. S. D. Baker, A155660, and Pte. C. Bellefeuille, JA850907. No home towns were given.

Most of the names on the list were those of United States servicemen. Two others were Britons and one was from the Royal Australian Air Force. All the men have been mentioned in Red propaganda broadcasts, publications and other sources.

While there are some differences in initials and official numbers, the Canadian apparently are:

Pte. Joseph Terence Allain, SG3811, of Rexton, Kent County, N.B.

Cpl. John Richard Toole, B801850, of Hamilton, Ont.

Pte. Arthur Baker, SD155660, of Montreal.

Pte. Joseph Armand Bellefeuille, C850907, of Hull, Que.

The Army in Ottawa said it had earlier information that Al-
